from Amazon for a very reasonable price. I received them in a couple of days (which is really nice) and I purchased them for a very reasonable price. Now, I cannot believe that somebody is pretending to be me when they complain about it, because I do not have such a problem. The only thing that bothers me is that some of these complaints are so ridiculous. So I'm going to check with Amazon to see what they can do about it, because what is the point of me complaining about something I am not complaining about? I purchased the Season 1 DVD from Amazon for around $12.00, and have only seen the first 2 episodes of Season 2, because I thought that Season 1 DVD was not worth $12.00. I have seen some of those videos and they are fairly accurate. The problem is that some people have apparently read the wrong thing on Amazon about where you can download the bonus material. The content that Amazon is missing is all the content that it took to make the DVDs, and you can't get it anywhere else. I have now got the first 13 episodes of season 2 on my computer, and will upload it to my server as soon as I have had a chance to give it a test. As for the content on the DVDs, 82157476af
